Cookies on sdgdata.gov.uk

Cookies are small files saved on your phone, tablet or computer when you visit a website.

We use cookies to store information about how you use this website, such as the pages you visit.

We use two types of cookies. You can choose which cookies you're happy for us to use.

Cookies that measure website use (analytics cookies)

We use Google Analytics and Hotjar to collect information about how you use the website. We use this data to help make the website better.

Google Analytics and Hotjar set cookies that store anonymised information about:

· how you got to the website

· the pages you visit on the website and how long you spend on them

· what you click on while you're visiting the website

· the way you use a page (for example, what you concentrate on and where you click and scroll)

· whether you have participated in a Hotjar survey

We do not allow Google or Hotjar to use or share the information about how you use this website.

Essential cookies

Essential cookies keep your information secure, and do things like remember your preferences and the choices you make whilst you use the website.

They always need to be on.

Surveys

We use SurveyMonkey to collect feedback about the website, and recruit participants to take part in user research activities (for example, usability testing). If you complete either of these surveys, SurveyMonkey will save extra cookies to track your progress on their website.

How we use the information we collect

To find out how we collect, store and use information about you or your visit, see our privacy policy.

Overview

The purpose of this page is to: Tell users about the cookies they are setting on their device and let them accept or reject different types of non-essential cookies.

The primary GDS pattern for the cookies page pattern can be found here: https://design-system.service.gov.uk/patterns/cookies-page/.

To see the content to be used on all cookie banner screens, please see Cookie Banner Content

Clicking this link displays the list of cookies (in a table) that measures website use (see Cookies List). This behaviour is replicated for each of the 'details' components used on this page.
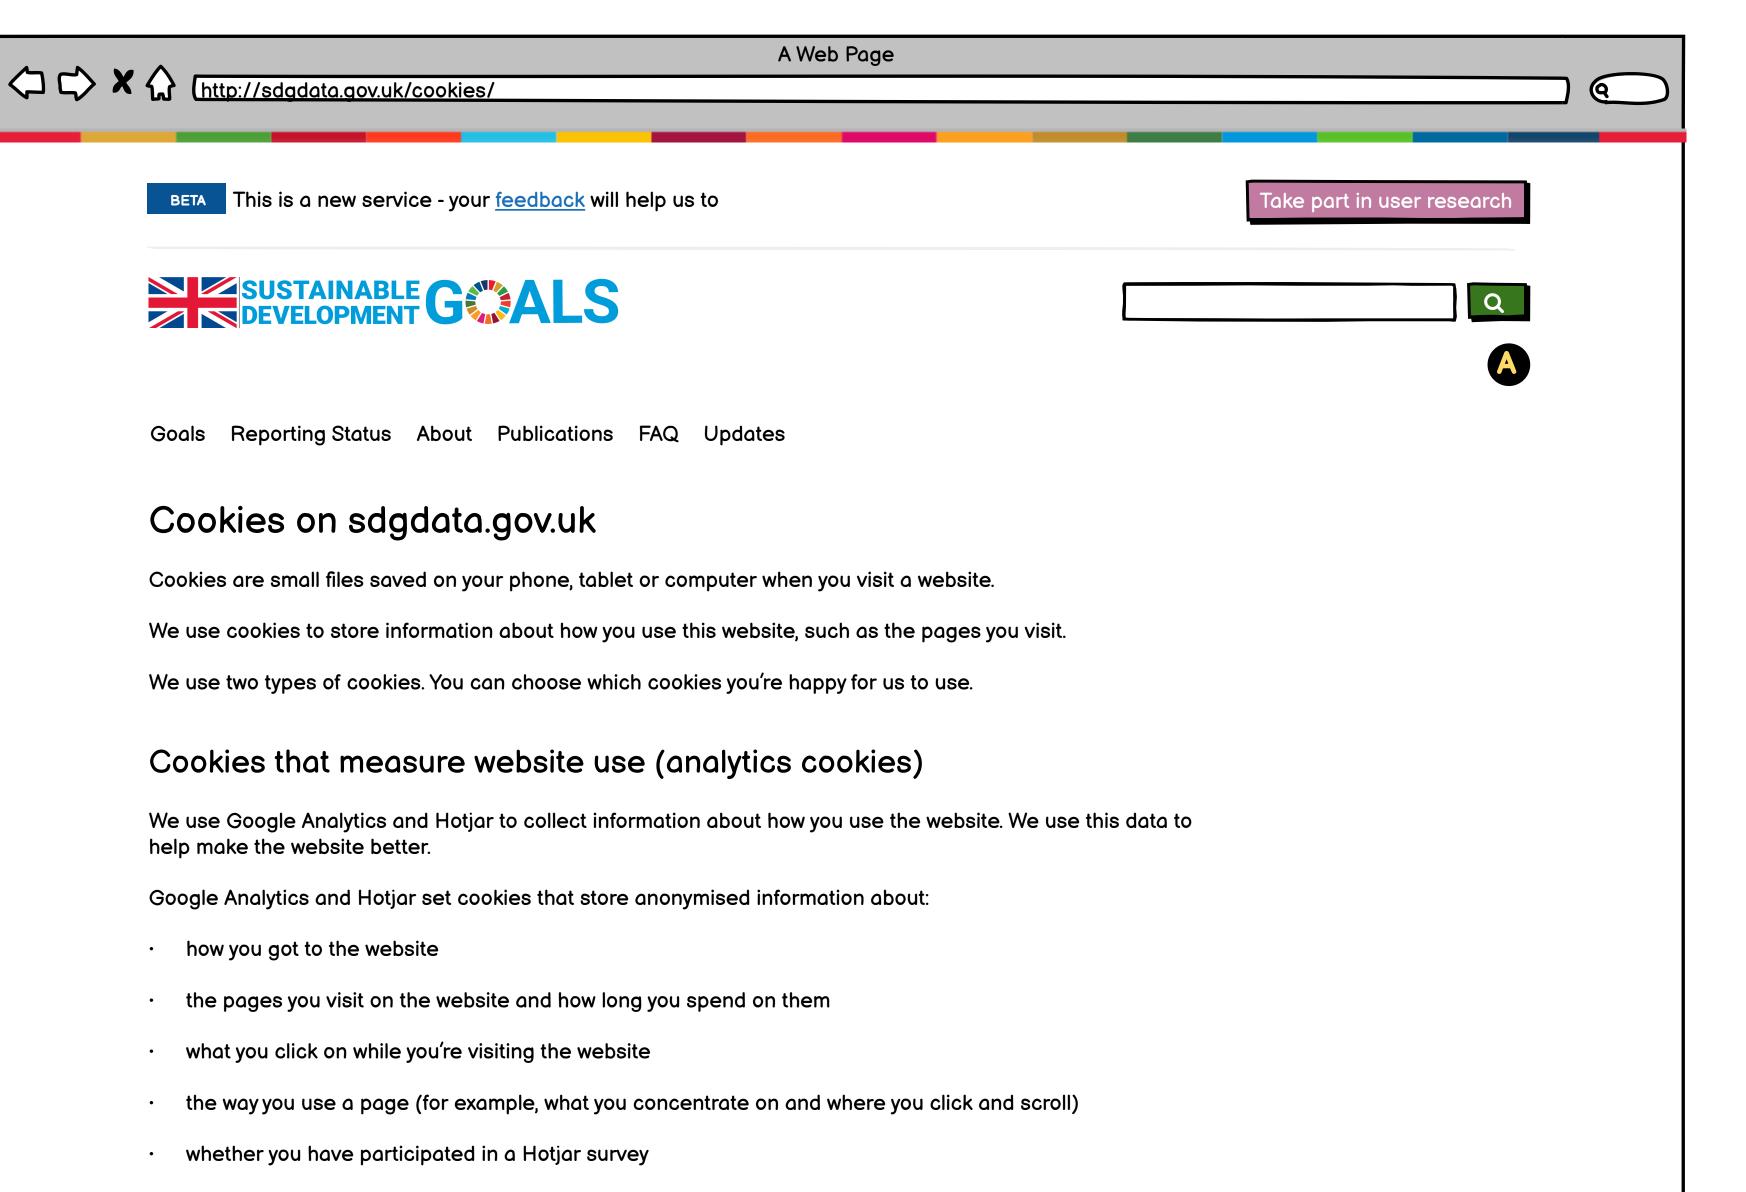

The GDS pattern for this 'details' component can be found here: https://design-system.service.gov.uk/components/details/.

The GDS pattern for this 'radios' component can be found here: https://design-system.service.gov.uk/components/radios/.

The page should be loaded with all radio buttons set to 'no' on the user's first visit. If they've previously used the service and set their preferences, load the page with those preferences selected.

Links to the SurveyMonkey cookies page: https://www.surveymonkey.co.uk/mp/legal/cookies/

Links to the SDG UK privacy policy page: This does not exist yet, but is being written and created as part of this piece of work.

On selecting 'Save cookie settings', users will be taken back to the top of the page and a green notification banner (e.g. confirmation message) will be displayed (see Cookies_journey_v2.pdf).

Success

You've set your cookie preferences. Go back to the page you were looking at.

The GDS pattern for this 'notification banner' component can be found here: https://design-system.service.gov.uk/components/notification-banner/.

There is also a specific example of this component two thirds of the way down this page: https://design-system.service.gov.uk/patterns/cookies-page/
